A Dynamic Reading of the Holy Spirit in Luke-Acts (Journal for the Study of the New Testament Supplement) Ju Hur

This is a holistic study of the Holy Spirit in Luke-Acts from a 'dynamic biblical narrative perspective', considering its literary, historical, and theological implications. This book is a challenge to both historical-critical and 'pure' literary-critical approaches to the subject of the Holy Spirit in Luke-Acts through a new and holistic perspective, 'dynamic biblical narrative criticism'. By means of this methodology, Hur attempts to explore the Lukan Spirit within the broader repertoire of biblical narrative, the Jewish Bible. This approach allows Hur to elucidate the narrative role of the Spirit in Luke-Acts in terms of point of view, characterisation, plot, and function and their effects on the implied reader. This wide-ranging study also considers theological implications raised for today's readers.
